Admiral Sampson's Report Of Santiago Battle.

THE POSITION OF THE NEW YORK

Is Particularly Described—The Report a Running Account—Special Praise Given To No One.

Washington, July 26—The navy department today made public the report of Admiral Sampson on the destruction of Cervera's squadron off Santiago, July 3rd. It is as follows:

"United States Flagship New York First Rate, Off Santiago de Cuba, July 15th, 1898.

"Sir: I have the honor to make the following report upon the battle with and the destruction of the Spanish squadron commanded by Admiral Cervera, off Santiago de Cuba, on Sunday July 3rd, 1898.

"2. The enemy's vessels came out of the harbor between 9:35 and 10 a. m., the head of the column and appearing around Cayo Smith at 9:31, and emerging from the channel five or six minutes later.

"3. The positions of the vessels of my command off Santiago at that moment were as follows: The flagship New York was four miles east of her blockading station, and about seven miles from the harbor entrance. She had started for Siboney, where I intended to land, accompanied by several of my staff and go to the front to consult General Shafter. A discussion of the situation and a more definite understanding between us of the operations proposed had been rendered necessary by the unexpectedly strong resistance of Spanish garrison of Santiago. I had sent my chief of staff on shore the day before to arrange an interview with General Shafter who had been suffering from heat prostration. I made arrangements to go to his headquarters and my flagship was in the position mentioned above when the Spanish squadron appeared in the channel. The remaining vessels were in order near their usual blockading positions, distributed in a semi-circle about the harbor entrance.

CAME OUT RAPIDLY.

"4. The Spanish vessels came rapidly out of the harbor, at a speed estimated at from 8 to 10 knots, and in the following order: Infanta Maria Teresa (flagship) Vizcaya, Cristobal Colon and the Almirante Oquendo. The distance between these ships was 800 yards, which means that, from the time the first one became visible in the upper reach of the channel until the last one was out, 12 minutes elapsed. Following the Oquendo, at a distance of about 1,200 yards, came the torpedo boat-destroyer Pluton and after her, the Furor. The armored cruisers as rapidly as they could bring their guns to bear opened a vigorous fire upon the blockading vessels and emerged from the channel shrouded in the smoke from their guns.

"5. The men of our ships in front of the port were at Sunday quarters for inspection. The signal was made simultaneously from several vessels 'Enemy's ships escaping,' and general quarters was sounded. The men cheered as they sprang to their guns, and fire was opened probably within eight minutes by the vessels whose guns commanded the entrance. The New York turned about and steamed for the escaping fleet, flying the signal 'Close in toward harbor entrance and attack vessels,' and gradually increasing speed, until toward the end of the chase was making 16½ knots and was rapidly closing on the Cristobal Colon. She was not, at any time, within range of the heavy Spanish ships, and her only part in the firing was to receive the undivided fire from the forts in passing the harbor entrance and to fire a few shots at one of the destroyers, thought at the moment to be attempting to escape from the Gloucester.

"6. The Spanish vessels on clearing the harbor turned to the westward in column increasing their speed to the full power of their engines. The heavy blockading vessels, which had closed in toward the Morro at the instant of the enemy's appearance, and at their best speed, delivered a rapid fire, well sustained and destructive, which speedily overwhelmed and silenced the Spanish fire. The initial speed of the Spaniards carried them rapidly past the blockading vessels, and the battle developed into a chase, in which the Brooklyn and Texas had at the start the advantage of position.

"7. The skillful handling and gallant fighting of the Gloucester excited the admiration of every one who witnessed it, and merits commendation of the navy department.

A MATTER OF DUTY.

"8. The method of escape attempted by the Spaniards, steering in the same direction, and in formation, removed all tactical doubt of difficulties and made plain the duty of every United States vessel to close in, immediately engage and pursue. This was promptly and effectively done. As stated already, the first rush of the Spanish squadron carried it by a number of the blockading ships, which could not immediately work up to their best speed, but they suffered heavily in passing, and the Infanta Maria Teresa and the Oquendo were probably set on fire by shells fired during the first fifteen minutes of the engagement. It was afterwards learned that the Infanta Maria Teresa's fire main had been cut by one of first shots, and that she was unable to extinguish fire. With large volumes of smoke rising from their lower decks aft, these vessels at once gave up both fight and flight and ran in on the beach, the Infanta Maria Teresa at about 10:15 a. m., at Nina Nina, six and a half miles from Santiago harbor entrance, and the Almirante Oquendo at about 10:30 a. m. at Juan Gonzales, about seven miles from the port.

"9. The Vizcaya was still under the fire of the leading vessels; the Cristobal Colon had drawn ahead, leading the chase, and soon passed beyond the range of the guns of the leading American ships. The Vizcaya was soon set on fire and at 11:15 she turned inshore and was beached at Aserradores, fifteen miles from Santiago, burning fiercely and with her reserve of ammunition on deck already beginning to explode. When about ten miles west of Santiago the Indiana had been signalled to go back to the harbor entrance, and at Aserradores the Iowa was signalled to 'resume blockade station.'

CHASE OF THE COLON.

"10. There remained now of the Spanish ships only the Cristobal Colon, but she was their best and fastest vessel. Forced by the situation to hug the Cuban coast her only chance of escape was by superior and sustained speed. When the Vizcaya went ashore the Colon was about six miles ahead of the Brooklyn and the Oregon, but her spurt was finished, and the American ships were gaining upon her. Behind the Brooklyn and the Oregon came the Texas, Vixen, and New York. It was evident from the bridge of the New York that all the American ships were gradually overhauling the chase, and that she had no chance of escape. At 12:30 the Brooklyn and the Oregon opened fire and got her range, the Oregon's heavy shells striking beyond her, and at 1:20 she gave up without firing another shot, hauling down her colors and ran ashore at Rio Tarquino, forty-eight miles from Santiago. Capt. Cook, of the Brooklyn went on board to receive the surrender. While his boat was alongside I came up in the New York, received his report and placed the Oregon in charge of the wreck to save her, if possible, and directed the prisoners to be transferred to the Resolute, which had followed in the chase. Commodore Schley, whose chief of staff had gone on board to receive the surrender, had directed that all their personal effects should be retained by the officers. This order I did not modify. The Cristobal Colon was not injured by our firing, and probably is not much injured by beaching, though she ran ashore at high speed. The beach was so steep that she came off by the working of the sea. But her sea valves were opened and broken, treacherously, I am sure, after her surrender, and, despite all efforts, she sank. When it became evident that she could not keep afloat she was pushed by the New York bodily upon the beach (the New York's stem being placed against her for this purpose, the ship being handled by Captain Chadwick with admirable judgment), and sank in shoal water and may be saved. Had this not been done she would have gone down in deep water and would have been to a certainty, a total loss.

"11. I regard this complete and important victory over the Spanish forces as the successful finish of several weeks of arduous and close blockade, so stringent and effective during the night that the enemy was deterred from making the attempt to escape at night, and deliberately elected to make the attempt in daylight.

"12. When all the work was done so well it is difficult to discriminate in praise. The object of the blockade of Cervera's squadron was fully accomplished and each individual bore well his part in it, the commodore in command on the second division, the captains of ships, their officers and men.

"Very respectfully,

"W. T. Sampson,

"Rear Admiral U. S. N., etc."

The Wanderer left here on the 20th with supplies and ammunition for the Cubans; also the expedition under Captain Heard, Third Cavalry with ten troopers and twenty-five Cubans.

When they arrived off Ranos they were joined by several hundred Cubans and the work of landing the supplies was commenced, when they were attacked by a large force of Spaniards and forced back to the beach, where, after sharp fighting, they forced the Spaniards to retire. Six Americans were wounded; also a number of Cubans were wounded. The Spanish loss is unknown, but it is supposed to be heavy.

DESPATCH FROM HIGGINSON.

Washington, July 27—The following despatch has been received from Captain Higginson, of the battleship Massachusetts:

IS SPAIN SUING FOR PEACE?

Report Announced Last Night in Washington

PREMIER SAGASTA DENIES IT

Officials in Paris Say the French Ambassador Was Authorized to Approach Washington.

The following statement, it is claimed by the Associated Press, was officially issued from the white house last night:

"The French ambassador, on behalf of the government of Spain, and by the direction of Spanish minister of foreign affairs, presented to the president this afternoon at the white house a message from the Spanish government looking to the termination of war, and the settlement of terms of peace."

WHAT SAGASTA SAYS:

Madrid, July 27—Premier Sagasta today denies that official peace negotiations are in progress between his government and the authorities at Washington. The foreign officer announces that such negotiations, if there are any, are due to private sources, where the initiative in the proceedings have probably been taken.

FROM FRENCH OFFICIALS.

Paris, July 27—Officials of this government assert today that the French ambassador has been authorized to approach the authorities at Washington with reference to peace negotiations between Spain and the United States.

PRESIDENT WILL ANSWER.

Washington, July 27—The president will communicate with the French ambassador, M. Jules Cambon, tomorrow in answer to Spain's peace proposal.

HOW DOES THIS SOUND?

Madrid, July 27—The Spanish government claims to have excellent grounds for protesting to the Powers in connection with the landing of Americans at Porto Rico and accordingly the Spanish representatives in European capitals have been instructed to make such protest based upon the fact that General Miles' army has invaded the island after Spain, through Ambassador Cambon had made a proposition of peace to the United States, which is claimed to be contrary to international law and usage.

FIVE STORIES HIGH.

A Handsome Business House to Be Erected Here.

It is always with pleasure that the Telegram announces the erection of new business houses in Greensboro, but we note with special pleasure the plans for building what will be the largest and most modern business house in the city. The building will be erected in the center of West's park by Mrs. Sol. Weill, of New York, for the Simpson-Shields Shoe Co.

The building is to be 25x125 feet, five stories high. It will be arranged specially for the wholesale shoe business, having been leased for a long term by the above named firm.

The Simpson-Shields Shoe company began business here in April, 1897, and in a short while their business has grown to such proportions that their present quarters will no longer accommodate them.

They are to be congratulated on the necessity for a larger building and Greensboro is to be congratulated on the prospect of having another large and commodious business house.

PURE VILLAINY.

A great deal has been said of late about the failure of the penitentiary authorities to make a report as the law requires. John R. Smith, the swapped off superintendent, says he will not make any report and that if any one else makes it he will not swear to it. Verily, in the matter of the management of state institutions our lines have fallen in unpleasant places. Within the last few days Mr. F. M. Simmons, chairman of the democratic executive committee has written at least three polite and courteous letters to the present superintendent of the penitentiary, J. M. Mewborne, requesting information concerning the state prison—information which should be given the public on the request of any citizen.

In answer to these inquiries Mr. Mewborne comes out in an open letter to Mr. Simmons in which he not only refuses to give the desired information but makes a vicious and villainous attack upon the chairman. For unblushing villainy and stupendous effrontery Mr. Mewborne takes the cake. After using a lot of coarse language in an attempt at sarcasm in refusing the information he begins with the following paragraph to ask questions of Mr. Simmons:

Now since you have so much love and affection for the interrogation mark, suppose you take a look at a few of them. As you are asking questions of me, I propose to ask some of you.

Then follows a list of questions entirely foreign to the matter in question. To show the utter disregard of fairness and justice displayed by Mr. Mewborne we copy the following, which is the closing paragraph of his letter:

One more question. If you succeed in defeating Bryan in 1900, do you expect to get your old office or a better one? Are you hoping for Ransom and Cleveland or Ransom and McKinley to do better by you next time? Vance is dead and can no longer hinder your confirmation.

In short his reply to polite, courteous and proper inquiries is entirely unworthy of the most corrupt or the most vindictive official, white or black, foisted upon the people of North Carolina from the kussin' governor down to the henchmen of the Abe Midleton stripe.

A few days ago a collision between the United States and Cuban forces seemed imminent. Now the prospect has faded away. The cause of it was the hasty withdrawal of Gen. Garcia's forces from Gen. Shafter's army.

Cuban commander-in-chief, Gomez, evidently sees the justice of Shafter's position and it is said he will not tolerate or countenance any question as to the military operations in Cuba. Garcia himself will probably repent of his rashness when the Americans wrench the Pearl of the Antilles from the tyrannical grasp of haughty Spain and proclaim freedom and self-government for the Cubans.

Admiral Sampson's official report on the destruction of Cervera's fleet which appears in our news columns today does not give any one especial praise for the victory. He speaks of giving signals from the New York, which was far in the rear, and at the same time says there was only one thing for our ships to do—give chase, which, he says, was done. He then relates how, one by one, the Spanish vessels gave up the fight and the flight. His report is rather disappointing to the public, who expected credit to be given where credit is due. But, really, his position may have been such that he couldn't see to whom belonged the greater part of the glory.

Rats, we are told, hundreds of them, climbed the rigging of the Spanish boat, Jorge Juan, the other day when that ship was sunk in the harbor of Nipe. Rats aboard a Spanish boat! Poor things! But rats having no better instinct than to go aboard a Spanish war vessel deserve to be drowned.

A very pretty story is going the rounds now about Lieutenant Hobson's sweetheart. It is not enough to know and talk about his daring feat of sinking the collier Merrimac but the more wonderful feat of falling in love—such a strange and unusual thing—must be heralded all over the country!

Uncle Sam's navy numbers among its ships a Wasp and a Hornet. A contemporary suggests that the Bumblebee is still available. Yes, yes, and if our memory serves us right there is nothing the matter with the Yellow Jacket.

Berlin is said to be one of the most cosmopolitan of German cities, only 37 per cent. of its inhabitants being Germans by birth.

A bevy of Tennessee girls visited the encampment at Chickamauga one day last week and serenaded the Missouri troops with this song:
'Tis hard for you'n's to live in camp,
'Tis hard for you'n's to fight the Dons,
'Tis hard for you'n's and we'n's to part
'Cause you'n's has got we'n's heart.

Inventors of anecdotes of the early life of Dewey are now turning their attention to the concoction of letters "written by Admiral Cervera." If the admiral should spend 24 hours every day in attending to his correspondence he could not indict one-half the missives published daily over his signature.

The following notice has been tacked up in the postoffice at St. Johnsbury, Vt., by a citizen of Benson, who seems to be in serious trouble: "Lost: Is There Any one that can tell me where my wife is and Little Girl is. If so please write and send Full Address and I will do the fair thing. Address all letters, C. L. Monger, Benson, Vt."

There seems to be a plethora of night shirts at Camp Thomas. A volunteer says in a letter to a western paper: "If the Kansas women want to do something for the Twenty-first let them send best wishes, but beg of them by all means to keep their nightshirts at home. A real soldier has less use for nightshirts and umbrellas than a pig has for a moustache. We would be compelled to wash nightshirts, and we are full up on fatigue and police duty already."

As typical of the spirit which enabled Uncle Sam's soldiers to capture Santiago in the face of almost insurmountable difficulties, this letter, written by Captain H. L. Bailey to his father in Burlington, Mo., before General Toral's surrender, is of no little interest: "I imagine you are anxious about us here in Cuba. Those at home suffer the most. We have hardships before us, but we are in good condition and able to bear much. Yet we most dread disease. We are very hopeful and it will take a great deal to suppress us. God takes care of children, drunken men and the United States."

Our baby has been continually troubled with colic and cholera infantum since his birth, and all that we could do for him did not seem to give more than temporary relief, until we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Since giving that remedy he has not been troubled. We want to give you this testimonial as an evidence of our gratitude, not that you need it to advertise your meritorious remedy.—G. M. Law, Keokuk Iowa. For sale by C. E. Holton.

Forgot Himself.

"Bill Arrp," in his latest letter from his Georgia home, tells these good stories on two noted ex-confederates who are now in the service of the United States:

"They say that Joe Wheeler forgot himself at Santiago when the Spaniards fired their deadly volleys from the brush, and he spurred his steed forward and shouted, 'Charge 'em boys! Charge the damn yankees; run 'em out of the brush!—the damn Spaniards I mean!'"

"And now they tell it on Gen. Lee that when his handsome blue uniform came and his wife took it out of the case, he looked at it with solemn countenance and said: 'Put it back, wife; let it stay there awhile till I can get reconciled; I'm afraid I might shoot at it all of a sudden.'"

OUR DEBT TO BUMBLEBEES.
The Part These Busy Workers Play In the Fertilization of Flowers.
Barney Hoskin Standish writes an article on "The Bumblebee" for St. Nicholas. Mr. Standish says: The work of the bumblebee in bringing about the cross fertilization of flowers is as important as that of the honeybee, and these two stand at the head of the list of insects useful in this respect. Each has its flowers which it alone visits, but there are many flowers on neutral ground visited by both. So we may say of the bumblebee, as of the honeybee, the more bumblebees the more seeds; the more seeds the more flowers—especially wild flowers, as the tall bellflower, touch me not, Solomon's seal, gentian, Dutchman's breeches and turtle head. But probably the most important work this insect does for agriculture is upon the fields of red clover. There is abundant proof that this plant will not produce seed without the co-operation of the bumblebee. It is impossible for the wind to bring about the fertilization of the seed, as it may do in the case of Indian corn, grain and some forest trees. The tube of red clover blossoms, too, is so long that other insects (including the honeybee) are not regular visitors.
Here is proof that this plant must have visits from the bumblebee. This insect is not a native of Australia, and red clover failed to produce seed there until bumblebees were imported. As soon as they became numerous the plant could be depended upon for seed. Again, the blossoms of the first crop of the Medium Red clover of our own country are just as perfect as those of the second crop, but there are too few bumblebees in the field, so early in the season, to produce fertilization, hence little or no seed in this crop. If bumblebees were sufficiently numerous, there is no reason why much larger yields of clover seed might not be expected than at present.
Here is what a well informed farmer says about it:
"It was formerly thought that the world rested on the shoulders of Atlas. I can prove that its prosperity rests on the bumblebee. The world cannot prosper without the farmers' product. The farm will not be productive without clover. We cannot raise clover without seed, and we cannot have clover seed without the bumblebee, because it is this insect that carries the pollen from flower to flower, securing its development and continuance. Let us learn to know and to protect our friends."

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING.
If All Saw Things Alike, This Would Be an Uninteresting World.
"It is a pity that more of us cannot cultivate the twofold way of looking at things," writes Edward W. Bok in The Ladies' Home Journal. "There would be less friction in life if we did, and sweeter sympathy, kinder understanding and broader and fuller living. The fact is that we never reach the dignity of true living unless we do learn this all important lesson. And that it may be cultivated admits of no doubt. It is simply a question of schooling ourselves not to condemn generally what individually does not happen to be to our taste. If, for example, we prefer brown as a color, there is no reason on earth why we should condemn the taste of any one who preferred to wear green. What the vast majority of us need is to be a little more self poised, more judicious, more willing to see good in the tastes of others, although they do not please our own particular fancies. It is all thought alike, read the same books, saw the same plays, wore the same colors, this would be an exceedingly uninteresting world.
"We cannot see all things in the same way, but we can come near to justice and true respect by taking a twofold view of things while still retaining our strong individual views. Seeing a possible good or use for everything does not necessarily mean a weak individuality. The most uncomfortable people in the world are those who assert their judgments in a hard, decisive and final manner, as if they were courts of last resort. On the other hand, the brightest and best minds are those that have most respect for the opinions of others."

Bemenyi and Pampernickel.
"My first meeting with Bemenyi," says H. J. Cleveland, "was over a lively stable in Council Bluffs. A concert hall was there and he was to play. A jackass in a stall beneath persistently brayed. Bemenyi would not play. I was on my way to Japan, or thought I was, and introduced myself to him after his audience had been dismissed. He begged of me to find some pumpernickel for him. I searched Pearl street resorts until I found some and took it to his room. He ate with satisfaction and then played for me, played until, boy as I was, I cried. That was at 2 o'clock in the morning, and in a large hotel filled with people. We had the halls filled with people in their nightrobes before that private concert ended. His love for pumpernickel was no more strange than that of Jannaschek for stale beer, and I have got many a pint of that for her after a most thrilling depiction of Mary, queen of Scots."—Chicago Times-Herald.

DE LOME FOR PEACE AT ONCE.
Says Spain Ought to Have Asked it Much Earlier.
Madrid, July 26.—Senor Dupuy de Lome, formerly Spanish Minister to the United States, says that overtures for peace ought to have been made after the glorious fight on July 1st around Santiago and after the destruction of Admiral Cervera's squadron.
He added that there was an excellent opportunity for peace now, when the Americans had discovered how unworthy the Cubans are.
Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrated me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I fortified myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by C. E. Holton.

Next Year's Reunion.
It is particularly fitting that the late confederate reunion of the nineteenth century should be held in Charleston, S. C., since Charleston is the capital of the first state to secede from the Union. Mr. Grady once said, after three days' stay in Charleston: "I have been out of the union for three days, and a little secession now and then is a mighty good thing." Perhaps nowhere else will the southern sentiment and principles be found so strongly developed and preserved as in the old Palmetto state; but conservatism is a very good quality and the traditions of Charleston's ways is most restful.—Atlanta Journal.

Blood Brains Money
A sick man can't make money That's because his brain won't work. A horse won't do work unless he is properly fed. Neither will a brain. If the brain is not kept in good condition with pure, rich blood, it won't produce much. Men who fail, and men who don't, often have what they call "Nervous Prostration." Nine times in ten the nervous trouble is purely secondary. The real sickness is in their digestion and in their blood. If a man keeps his digestion in good order, and keeps his body full of pure, rich blood, he is never going to be very sick.
Johnston's Sarsaparilla is made for people who want to get well and stay well. Sarsaparilla is a simple, "grandmother" remedy, but it cures. It purifies and enriches the blood and sends it tingling to every part of the body. That is the way it cures all ailments of the brain and nerves—cures insomnia—cures dyspepsia, rheumatism, scrofula, and every other blood disease. It clears the complexion, plumps out the cheeks, and brings back the sparkle to lifeless eyes.
One Dollar is the price, and One thousand Dollars is the health-giving value of every Quart Bottle of

Bobby Knew The Line.
The following story is told by a resident of Bloomington, Macon county, as having occurred at a district school near there recently. It was Friday, the day of original compositions. Each scholar had to memorize his or her production. A little girl with blue eyes and sandy hair lisped:
"The dawning shaft of light came out
To greet the larks refrain,
And every gladdened heart sang out—"
Then she stopped. A blue shirted urchin raised his hand and snapped his fingers.
"What is it Bobby?" asked the teacher.
"I know it."
"Know what?"
"The line she's forgot."
"You do?" said the teacher in surprise, "what is it?"
Promptly as a rifle shot came the answer that completed the verse:
"To — with Spain!"
—Kansas City Times.
